

Product Safety Compliance Policy

Garyline is committed to the highest quality and safety standards for all our products. It is our policy to meet all applicable State & Federal regulations and to meet the Consumer Product Safety Commission compliance standards for all products.

All raw materials used for manufacture are independently lab tested for compliance. We require the manufacturers of all components, colorants, surface coatings and imported products to adhere to the same standard and to provide safety documentation.

Certificates of Compliance are placed on each product page on our website, so you can download for your records.

If you require additional information or have any questions regarding the safety policies and testing procedures, please contact our Product Safety Compliance Officer at compliance@garyline.com
