COVID-19 Production Status Update

June 23, 2020

As an essential business that supplies critical components to Healthcare, Food Service, Electronics and Medical facilities, Gary Plastic / Garyline was able to remain operational continuously during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Our primary concern has been the health and well-being of our employees and customers, so we took the recommended precautions: social distance, wearing masks & shields, washing hands and work stations often.

As a primary manufacturer, we were able to convert a portion of our production to manufacture Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) for the hospitals, health facilities and other frontline workers. There was a critical need in our region, and we are very proud to have produced millions of face shields, face masks, ear relievers, first aid kits and cleaning spray bottles.

As the country begins to reopen for business, we stand ready to produce what is needed for our loyal distributors.

We are a union / USA manufacturer, so our inventory is regenerated 24/5 in 40 injection and blow molding machines. We are not relying on ocean freight/container shipments, so we are available to produce even the largest orders in any color to meet your deadlines.

Thank you to everyone for your support through this difficult time.
